About Lois Mahalia

Lois Mahalia is a highly talented vocalist with over 20 years of experience in the music industry. Aside from her fabulous voice, she has been commended for her professional demeanor and her “no ego” attitude. She is driven by the need to make her mark in the U.S. music industry. She exudes the confidence of someone who has been tempered by experience.

Music has always been a dominant force in Lois Mahalia’s life. It was a pretty big part of her childhood. She grew up listening to a variety of musical genres. She enjoyed gospel music, jazz, pop, reggae, R&B, and even dance tunes. She learned a lot from these musical styles and, to this day, utilizes their outstanding techniques to create a sound that is uniquely her own.

It’s no surprise that Lois Mahalia started performing when she was just five years old on stage with her brothers in South America where she was born. She moved to the US at age 13 and continued singing in churches with her musical family. She has happy memories of this experience. “I grew up singing with my family in churches and any stage we could find,” she states.

Lois Mahalia is a versatile performer who writes her own songs and performs covers of popular hits. When it comes to song covers, she pays homage to the artists but does not copy them. Instead, she injects her own vocal stylings to make the song “new” again. This way, she brings new life to the piece.
